SCENE FROM WANT OF MONEY: OR A MINISTER'S TROUBLE.

(An unpublished drama in 5 acts.)

Scene: The Premier's Office,
Char.: The Premier, and Assessor
G. R. (not Geo. Rex.)

P.—Will you, pray, be so obliging as to repeat to me that passage I pointed out to you when you took office, uttered by that mambling old Hebrew to the great and illustrious Sig. Antonio?

A. (repeats) — Signor Antonio many a time and oft on the Rialto have you rated me

P.—Stop there! Have you followed in the foot steps of that great man Antonio? the necessity of which was broadly intimated to you on a former occasion.

A.—Your Highness' Excellency, I have rated, assessed, and taxed over and over again, everything I could lay my hands or eyes upon, or heard of, or guessed at, 'till there is not nothing left for to rate, and nobody hasn't got no more money to pay with; and if you still want more, you will have to go in for that pound of flesh talked about further on in that story, and I don't know any butcher in this country who would undertake to cut it so fine as required.—Communicated.

A FEW GERMS FROM IRÆNEUS.

(Copied for the BULLETIN.)

It is better to be stupid than witty, when wit is out of time and place. It is better not to laugh at all, than to laugh when mirth is mockery.

"'Tis pitiful to court a grin when you should win a soul. So did not Paul." No amount of preaching however eloquent or serious, can atone for such an abuse of the sacred office.

The men whose brilliant jests and amusing stories, entertain an audience of immortal souls, are not the preachers who win the most sinners to the Savior.

A friend calls our attention to the presence of mangy, leprous curs in the Fish-Market. They ought to be seized and destroyed by the police, as they are capable of spreading disease.

THIS WAS FISHED OUT OF THE SHIP'S COOK'S COPPERS AFTER THE RACE.

You sporting men, both far and near, be careful what you do,
Before you back the colored race against the Navy Blue,

We'll take them up for all they are worth though our backers they are few,
We are on the fleet heeled yankee barge and the boys that wear the blue.

We have tried them on the race course, they were not game to bet,
For well they knew that yankee muscle never weakened yet.

For where we've got the sea room with boat and equal crew,
You can bet your bottom dollar on our navy suit of Blue,

And if they should retaliate to hold aloft their name,

We will excuse their native tricks, which lowered their whale boat's fame,
Let them bring their fastest shell-boat with any native crew,

They can chase the yankee Heeler and the boys that wear the blue.

From a midship Oar,

A BOY IN BLUE, U.S.N.

[The above was forwarded to us for publication, by one of the Alaska's seamen.—Ed.]

SHIPPING NOTES.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS.

Mr. A. F. Cooke is building a sail and rigging loft on the Ewa side of the Fish-Market.

The race between the Alaska's crew and the King's crew did not come off on Saturday. All bets are off.

Mr. A. W. Richardson has just received a splendid assorted stock of French gaiters and straw and felt hats, in all the latest and most fashionable styles.

The decisions of the Judges will be made known this morning. All bills and prizes will be paid at Mr. C. O. Berger's office, Kaahumanu street.

By Monday it is said the price of the maps of Oahu issued by the Survey Department will be fixed, and they will be for sale at the office of the Interior Department.

Ox Saturday, a little after noon, a canoe race took place which caused a little excitement. The Fish-Market crew got beaten. Olapaka-hoe 1, Iwalani 2.

The stalls round the Fish-market were finished on Saturday. The building is now going a credit to the town. We take the credit to ourselves of first calling public attention to this needed improvement.

We call the attention of our business men to the fact that an extra vessel of the Crossman's line of packets is now loading at New York to leave for this place in January. Further particulars will be found in our advertising column.

Two fine oil paintings can be seen in the Bank parlors for a few days. They are dining-room pieces, one of papaya fruit and the other bread-fruit. They were painted from nature by Mrs. Gillin of Maui, and belong to Mr. J. H. Paty. As specimens of nature painting they are exquisite and are well worthy of a visit.

We note the death of Mr. Frederick McCrellish, the senior proprietor of the Alta California, on Oct. 31st. Mr. McCrellish was well-known on the Coast since '52. In '54 he became Commercial Editor of the Alta, and in '56 he became its proprietor. He has left his impress on the minds of men.

At 4:30 on Thursday morning, at the corner of Merchant and Nuuanu streets, 7 or 8 drunken natives were standing and howling out the filthiest language possible. They, of course, woke all the neighbors. Some of them were either police or hack-drivers, as it was noticed they wore badges. Comment is unnecessary.

We have had laid on our table a beautiful card, issued by Messrs. E. O. Hall & Son. It is really a work of art, both in the printing and general get up. It also contains a named specimen of a Hawaiian fern. The list of goods suitable for Christmas gifts is very large, embracing beautiful silver and plated ware, of which illustrations are given. We have personally examined the China and glass vases, &c., and they are the most beautiful ever seen here, being in the latest aesthetic and artistic styles.

Prof. W. D. Alexander returned from Molokai on Saturday morning, where he had been trying to complete the primary triangulation of the islands. Bad weather, however, interfered with the complete success of the project. The signalling was done by means of heliographs stationed on Diamond Head and Mokapu, on this island; Maunaloa on Molokai, and Kanepuu on Lanai. These observations are simply being made to verify those of former years and it is satisfactory to know that, even with the bad weather, the difference in the observations is scarcely worth consideration.

THE EVILS OF PAINTING And their Remedy.

"It has been said with much truth, too, that house painting might, with study and acquirement of taste, resume its rank as a liberal art."—Painters' Manual.

Believing the above to be true, A. B. KERR has now re-organized his system of working the business in Honolulu. In the first place he has secured the services of that celebrated artist, Mr. Max Koux, formerly of San Francisco, whose work in the line of plain and decorative paper-hanging, frescoing, &c., is up to the present time unsurpassed, and on these Islands has never been equalled. For house painting jobs first-class mechanics only will be employed. In future patrons can depend upon my filling every order on the most scientific basis known to the trade.

The Sign Painting and Lettering department will be permanently presided over by Mr. Geo. STRATMEYER, (further comment unnecessary.)

P.S.—Send for designs of frescos for ceiling and cornices. Something new; and if you want any glass put in call at

"Tiger" Paint Store,
